The Indiana Archaeology Month poster design this year features an array of images representing Indiana artifacts, shipwrecks, and other features related to our waterways. There has been a recent surge of interest in underwater archaeology in Indiana as well as in the identification, preservation, and interpretation of underwater cultural resources.

The commemorative t-shirt design also features images related to Indiana's underwater cultural resources. The image is on natural colored, short sleeved t-shirts.

The 2012 poster and shirt image designs are by Nicole D. Arb. Printed by PEN Products – www.penproducts.com.

The DHPA thanks the following groups and individuals for the use of their images: Dr. Kira Kaufmann, Colin Zylka, Commonwealth Cultural Resources Group (CCRG); Indiana Lake Michigan Coastal Program; Michigan City Historical Society, Inc., Old Lighthouse Museum; Indiana Department of Natural Resources/State Parks and Reservoirs; and Phil Hallenbeck.

The Division of Historic Preservation and Archaeology (DHPA) is pleased to present this year's commemorative poster and shirts, and we hope that you will be able to participate in the many archaeological events which will take place during September. Feel free to go to <http://www.in.gov/dnr/historic/3674.htm> to learn more about Indiana Archaeology Month.
